Medical Transfer and Partnership.

30, Bucklersbury, Cheapside.

MR. ORRIDGE, Medical Transfer Agent and Valuer, in offering his services to the Profession, has pleasure in referring to the fact, that for well nigh twenty years his name has been known in the advertising columns of the leading medical journals as that of one to whom a very large proportion of the medical men throughout the kingdom have confided their interests in the adjustment of Partnership and Transfers.

Mr. Orridge has the honour of being permitted to give reference to the testimony of those for whom he has been thus concerned during this lengthened period—a privilege that he trusts will be regarded as a conclusive proof of the sincerity of his endeavours to conduct these transactions in an honourable and straightforward manner.

He takes leave to point out that the instrumentality of his extensive connexion enables him to offer particular advantages in the furtherance of their respective objects to those who are about to receive partners or to relinquish or to commence practice.

He is fully aware of the evil of an undue publicity in negociations relating to Medical Practices, and every care is taken that particulars entrusted to him are submitted only to suitable applicants, the private nature of the information given being strictly enjoined.

Purchasers who will communicate (confidentially) the nature and extent of their wishes regarding investment can be apprised of appropriate opportunities as they occur.

On occasions where advice is required in forming a correct conclusion as to the worth or eligibility of a Practice, Mr. Orridge trusts that his familiarity with the various contingencies that govern value will be found of considerable service to those by whom he is employed.

ORTHOPRAXY.

THE treatment of Deformities, Deficiencies, and Debilities of the Human Body is no longer confined to a section of the Profession, but justly forms an every-day part of the practice of general Surgery.

To enable it to be undertaken with success, various mechanical appliances are needed, which, unless perfect in detail and effective in application, would tend more to baffle restorative effort than to assist it.

With a view of affording the fullest knowledge and information relative to the apparatus needed for these cases, and also explaining the principles which govern their mechanical action, the following "Manual" has been written; and its Author trusts that his desire to assist in promoting an acquaintance with the modern appliances of this and other countries may meet with the concurrence of the leading members of the Medical Profession.

"Mr. Bigg's book is a most useful summary of the art which it is intended to describe and exemplify, and its materials are arranged with great ability and even learning."—Medical Circular.

"This book must take a high and permanent place in scientific literature, and secure for its author a deserved reputation."—Morning Post.

"He is a shrewd and instructive companion, and we can heartily commend the clearness and completeness with which he describes the various instruments for curing deformities, remedying debility, and concealing defects."—Athenæum.

PREFACE.

THE present Volume of the MEDICAL DIRECTORY, although presenting no new features of special interest, will, we trust, bear favourable comparison with its predecessors. We have given as much information as can be crowded into our space, and have endeavoured to merit the confidence which for twenty-one years we have enjoyed, by sparing neither expense nor trouble in the compilation of this work.

In accordance with the determination expressed in our Annual Circular, we have, where necessary, reduced the number of Contributions to the Weekly Periodicals to three. It must be obvious that the number of such Contributions should be limited, and for several years past we have called special attention to our standing rule, in the hope that those Members of the Profession who had infringed it, would have exercised the liberty of selection, and thus have saved us the unpleasant duty of arbitrarily curtailing the number. To papers in Transactions and Reviews, which are usually of a more important character, we have not considered the above rule to be applicable.

We gratefully acknowledge the kindness of the many members of the Profession who, by the prompt return of the Annual Circular and by the local information they furnish, greatly assist us in our task. But there are some medical men who rarely return the Circular, and others who return it but once in two or three years, evidently under the impression that if the Circular is not returned we shall conclude that the entry of their names, &c., is quite correct. But as the non-return may imply "death" or "removal," we again request that the Annual Circular be at once returned, whether any alterations are required or not. Should it be necessary afterwards to make any alterations or additions, the list will always be open for that purpose until the end of October. Compliance with this request involves but little trouble and no expense beyond that of a postage stamp.

The DIRECTORY being the only reliable list of Medical Practitioners, it is as important to the personal interests of the Profession as to the character of the work itself, that all the particulars contained therein should be strictly correct, and this correctness can only be secured by the co-operation of every member of the Profession.

THE EDITORS.

MATRICULATION.

[N.B. Candidates for the Degree of B.A., and Candidates for the Degree of B.Sc. or of M.B., who have not graduated in Arts in one of the Universities of the United Kingdom, are required to have passed the Matriculation Examination.

The Matriculation Examination is among those Examinations of which every Medical Student commencing his professional studies after September, 1861, is required (by the Regulations of the Medical Council) to have passed some one. And it is accepted by the Royal College of Surgeons of England in place of the Preliminary Examination otherwise imposed on Candidates for its Fellowship.]

There are two Examinations for Matriculation in each year; one commencing on the second Monday in January, and the other on the last Monday in June. No candidate is admitted to the Matriculation Examination unless he have produced a certificate showing that he has completed his sixteenth year. A fee of two pounds is paid at Matriculation. The examination is conducted by means of printed papers; but the Examiners are not precluded from putting, for the purpose of ascertaining the competence of the candidates to pass, viva-voce questions to any candidate in the subjects in which they are appointed to examine. Candidates for the Matriculation Examination are examined in the following subjects:—Mathematics; Arithmetic and Algebra; Geometry. Natural Philosophy. Chemistry. Classics: The Greek and Latin Languages. (One Greek and one Latin subject, to be selected one year and a half previously by the Senate.) The English Language: Outlines of English History and Modern Geography. The French or the German Language, at the option of the Candidate. Candidates shall not be approved by the Examiners unless they show a competent knowledge in—1. Classics; 2. The English Language, English History, and Modern Geography; 3. Mathematics; 4. Natural Philosophy; 5. Chemistry; 6. Either the French or the German Language.

MEDICINE.—BACHELOR OF MEDICINE.

Candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Medicine are required: 1. To have passed the Matriculation Examination of this University, or to have taken a degree in Arts in one of the Universities of the United Kingdom. 2. To have been engaged in their professional studies during four years subsequently to Matriculation or Graduation in Arts, at one or more of the Medical Institutions or schools recognised by this University; one year, at least, of the four, to have been spent in one or more of the recognised institutions or schools in the United Kingdom. 3. To pass the preliminary scientific examination,* and two examinations in Medicine.

PRELIMINARY SCIENTIFIC EXAMINATION.

The preliminary scientific examination takes place once in each year, and shall commence on the third Monday in July. No candidate is admitted to this examination until he shall have completed his seventeenth year, and shall have either passed the Matriculation Examination or shall have taken a degree in Arts in one of the Universities of the United Kingdom; nor unless he have given to the Registrar fourteen days' notice of his intention to present himself. The fee for this examination is five pounds. Candidates are examined in the following subjects:—Mechanical and Natural Philosophy; Chemistry; Inorganic Chemistry; Botany and Vegetable Physiology; Zoology and Comparative Anatomy. The examinations are conducted by printed papers and partly by viva voce, experiment, and demonstration from specimens. Candidates are not approved by the Examiners unless they show a competent knowledge in all the subjects of examination.

* Candidates who have matriculated previously to January, 1861, will not be required to pass the Preliminary Scientific examination in any other subjects than Chemistry and Botany; and they will be allowed to pass the Preliminary Scientific examination and the First M.B. examination in the same year, if they so prefer.

This Hospital, founded by Thomas Guy, in 1721, for the reception of 400 patients, and recently enlarged through the aid of a large bequest from the late William Hunt, contains at the present time nearly 600 beds; and, with its extensive buildings and large airing grounds, occupies an area of about seven acres. The Hospital is divided into Medical, Surgical, Clinical, Ophthalmic, Uterine, and Venereal Wards, independently of separate rooms for special cases. In the year 1864, 20,230 persons were relieved by its means; 5511 as in-patients, 13,081 as out-patients, and 48,722 as casualties, besides 1608 women who were attended in their confinements, and 6109 who received advice for minor injuries. Between 400 and 450 patients are now received into the older buildings, and 150 into the part of the new wing already completed; the latter building, when finished, will admit upwards of 300 patients.

Wards containing thirty beds are devoted to Ophthalmic Surgery, and the patients in these have their special dressers and reporters appointed in the usual manner. About 2500 Ophthalmic cases are seen annually as out-patients. Recently the eye department of the Hospital has been extended, and a room has been fitted up for operating on the eye, and another provided with ophthalmoscopes for use of Students.

Gentlemen desirous of becoming Students must produce satisfactory testimony as to their Education and Conduct.

LONDON SCHOOL OF DENTAL SURGERY.

32, Soho Square. W.

(For Regulations of the Royal College of Surgeons relating to Professional Education of Candidates for examination in Dental Surgery, see p. 183.)

It has been felt by the founders of the London School of Dental Surgery, that the opportunities afforded to the Student at the existing Medical Schools and General Hospitals, for the acquirement of a knowledge of those subjects embraced in an ordinary Medical education, could not be equalled by a special School; while, on the other hand, the opportunities offered by a special School in connexion with a Dental Hospital for the instruction of Pupils on the subjects which specially relate to Dental Surgery, would be much greater than could be secured in an institution devoted to general Medical education. Hence in the formation of the London School of Dental Surgery, provision has been made for teaching those branches of science only which pertain specially to Dentistry; and the School has been organized in connexion with the Dental Hospital of London, in order that practical instruction in subjects specially pertaining to Dental Surgery may be accompanied by systematic teaching, under the conditions enjoined by the Curriculum.

The Hospital was opened on Monday, October 3rd, 1859, for the reception of Pupils, who receive practical instruction from the Dental Officers, and when sufficiently advanced, are themselves intrusted with the treatment of cases.

The Lectures on the subjects specially pertaining to Dental Surgery (excepting those upon Mechanical Dentistry and Metallurgy) will be given during the Summer Medical Session, in order that Students may be at liberty to attend at any of the existing Medical Schools those lectures enjoined by the Curriculum upon subjects which are not peculiar to Dental Surgery.

ROYAL SCHOOL OF MINES.

DEPARTMENT OF SCIENCE AND ART, JERMYN STREET, S.W.—Established 1851.

Direct., Sir R. I. Murchison; Regist., Mr. T. Reeks.

The chief object and distinctive character of this Institution (to which everything else is made subsidiary) is to give a practical direction to the course of scientific study. Although the education provided in it will not of itself qualify the student to undertake the direction of mining and other technical operations, yet the knowledge which he may acquire of the principles of the sciences on which the arts are respectively based will, in combination with future training, render him in the highest degree competent, not only to engage in any special branch of industry, but to promote its further development. The mode of instruction is by lectures, by written and oral examinations, by practical teaching in the laboratories and drawing-office, and also by field excursions, under certain conditions.

ROYAL COLLEGE OF CHEMISTRY.

315, Oxford Street. W.

The Royal College of Chemistry is the property of the Government, and its spacious and well-furnished Laboratories are used for the instruction of the pupils of the Government School of Mines. The instruction in this Institution is under the superintendence of Professor E. Frankland, and consists of—

I. A course of Practical Analysis in the Laboratory.

II. A series of Lectures on General Chemistry.

The Laboratory Instruction, which is divided into a qualitative and quantitative course, is necessarily adapted to the previous knowledge of the student, such as he may have acquired by attending the chemical lectures delivered at the Institution. The course commences with experimental exercises, calculated to make the pupil practically acquainted with the general properties of the simple substances. The next subjects of his study are the analytical properties of the elements, and of their most important compounds. The knowledge thus acquired is subsequently put into practice in the performance of a series of analyses, so arranged as to lead the student, step by step, from the simplest to the most complicated cases, both of qualitative and quantitative analysis. Particular attention is paid to the use of the blowpipe, and the various methods of commercial testing, alkalimetry, chlorimetry, &c.

Each laboratory student works independently; there are no classes. All operations are superintended by the Professor and his assistants. A table, with drawers, cupboard, and shelves, is appropriated to every pupil. The Institution supplies gas, fuel, and re-agents. Larger and more expensive instruments, such as air-pumps, thermometers, barometers, condensers, large evaporating dishes, &c., may be had on loan from the Laboratory. The student has to provide himself only with the apparatus specified in the Laboratory Regulations.

The courses of Lectures are delivered in the Theatre at the College in Oxford-street. They consist of 60 Lectures, and treat of General Chemistry, with especial reference to its application in the arts and manufactures.

The Society has formed a library, which is continually being enriched by the addition of books for the student, and for those who wish to verify the statements of writers on Ethnology; and also by philological and other special works, for those engaged in advancing the science.

The Society meets twice a month on Tuesday evening at eight o'clock, during the winter season, from November to June inclusive, for the reading of papers and other communications, and for the discussion of subjects connected with Ethnology.

The Society has issued four volumes of its journal, and the first volume of a new series has just appeared.

The Royal Institution is an association of individuals who are attached to Science, and desirous to promote its advancement.

Its chief objects are—

1. To promote scientific and literary research.
2. To teach the principles of inductive and experimental science.
3. To exhibit the application of these principles to the various arts of life; and
4. To afford opportunities for study.

The Royal Institution comprises—

I. A Laboratory for the promotion and advancement of chemical and physical science, by experiments and original investigations. In this Laboratory the researches of Professor Davy, of Professor Faraday, and of Professor Tyndall, extending over a period of above half a century, have been conducted. The laws of Electro-chemical Decomposition,—the Decomposition of the fixed Alkalies,—the establishment of the nature of Chlorine,—the philosophy of Flame,—the Condensibility of many Gases,—the science of Magneto-Electricity,—the twofold Magnetism of Matter, comprehending all known substances,—the Magnetism of Gases, and the transmission of Heat through Gases,—are the results of investigations carried on in the Laboratory of the Royal Institution during the last sixty years. The cost of these researches has been defrayed by the willing contributions of the Members, without any aid from the Government of the country.

II. Public Lectures intended to supply that which books or private instruction can rarely afford:—Experimental exhibition, highly illustrated delineation, or detailed descriptions of matters connected with science or art. They usually comprehend a short course at Christmas, and six or more courses, before and after Easter; the Season lasting from the middle of January to the middle of June. The subjects of these lectures are generally some of the different branches of inductive science—as mechanics, chemistry, heat, light, electricity, astronomy, geology, botany, and physiology. Courses are also occasionally given on subjects of general interest, as on literature, the fine arts, and music.

III. Weekly Meetings of the members of the Institution.—These are held on every Friday evening during the Session, and the members have the privilege of introducing two friends to them by tickets. The object of these meetings is to bring together men of literature and science, and to afford opportunities of communicating, by discourses in the theatre, either new views or new applications of known truths, and of demonstrating by experiment, and familiarizing by description, new results which have been recently recorded in the scientific memoirs of philosophical societies. Abstracts of these Discourses, prepared by the speakers, are printed in the "Proceedings of the Royal Institution," a copy of which is sent to the members. Volumes I., II., and III. (1851 to 1862) are ready, price, to members, 7s. 6d.; to non-members, 10s. 6d. each volume, bound. The parts are sold for 2s. 6d. each; the numbers for 1s. 6d. each.

IV. A Museum, containing scientific apparatus of historical interest, mineral specimens, and other collections.—The chief object of this museum is to furnish illustrations for the lectures and the Friday evening discourses.

V. A Library of about 34,000 volumes, including works of science,—the transactions of the principal British and Foreign academies and scientific institutions,—British history and topography, including the ancient chronicles, eminent modern historians, county histories, and many rare productions relating to these subjects,—works on literature, art, and antiquarian research,—the best editions of the Greek and Latin Classics and the Fathers of the Church,—British and Foreign literature,—and an extensive collection of historical and miscellaneous tracts, commencing with the sixteenth century.

A New Classified Catalogue of the Library (with a synopsis of contents and indexes of authors and subjects) embracing nearly a thousand pages, has been prepared by Mr. Vincent, the keeper of the Library. It is sold (bound) to the members of the Royal Institution, for 10s.; to the public, for 15s. A list of the additions is printed annually, and sent to the members.

In the Upper Library will be found a classified collection of Encyclopædias, Dictionaries, and Textbooks, arranged for immediate reference.

VI. A Reading-room for Study.—In this apartment will be found many series of English, French, German, and Italian scientific Memoirs and Journals, and a great number of works on the natural, medical, and mathematical sciences.

VII. A Newspaper Room, in which the principal Journals, Magazines, and Reviews, English and Foreign, are regularly provided.

A Circulating Library is subscribed to, in order to afford the members an opportunity of seeing the newest books as soon as published.

 The Reading and Newspaper Rooms are open every day from Nine in the morning till Eleven in the evening. The Upper Library is open every day from Ten in the morning till Ten in the evening, except on the Fridays during the season, when it is closed at Four in the afternoon.

Terms of Admission: New Members, when proposed, are balloted for at the next General Monthly Meeting, and pay on Admission Ten Guineas (Five Guineas as the first Annual Payment, and Five Guineas as a contribution to the Library Fund); or Sixty Guineas in lieu of all payments. Members are admitted to ALL Lectures delivered in the Institution, to the Libraries, to the Museum, and to the weekly evening meetings, and have the right of voting at the monthly meetings; they may also introduce by tickets two friends to each of the weekly evening Meetings, and their families have the privilege of attending the Lectures at a reduced charge. And for every additional subscription of Twenty Guineas at one time, or Three Guineas per annum, each Member is entitled to introduce personally, or by a written order, one visitor to each of the public lectures.

Annual Subscribers to the Institution pay Five Guineas, and One Guinea to the Library fund on admission. They are admitted to all the courses of lectures delivered in the theatre of the institution, to the libraries, and to the newspaper rooms, but have not the privilege of attending the evening meetings.

Admission to Lectures.—The Wives of Members, and Sons and Daughters (under the age of twenty-one) of Members, are admitted for the season to all Courses of Lectures, and to the Museum, on the payment each of One Guinea, and to any separate Course of Lectures on the payment each of Half-a-Guinea.

For the Christmas course, children under sixteen years of age pay Half-a-Guinea.

The General Annual Meeting for the election of officers will be held on Friday the 1st of May, at Two o'clock, p.m.

Syllabuses of the Lectures and Friday Evening Meetings may be obtained at the House of the Institution. The lecture arrangements for 1866 will include courses by Professors Tyndall, Frankland, Marshall, and others.

MEDICAL BENEVOLENT FUND, 11, NEW BURLINGTON STREET. W.—Established 1836.—Pres., Sir J. Clark, Bart., M.D.; Vice-Pres., Sir H. Holland, Bart., M.D., G. Burrows, M.D., H. Bence Jones, M.D., and Mr. J. Bacot; Trust., Sir C. Hastings, M.D., G. Burrows, M.D., and Mr. J. Toynbee; Committee, Messrs. C. A. Aikin, E. H. Ambler, E. Barker, H Bullock, J. Churchill, J. Clark, M.D. G. T. Dale, J. T. France, T. H. Hills, J. Hodgson, G. C. Jonson, J. Lavies, C. F. J. Lord, W. Martin, H. K. Owen, M.D., E. H. Sieveking, M.D., H. Sterry, and J. Ward; Treas., Mr. J. This Fund was instituted in the year 1836 to afford immediate pecuniary relief to distressed qualified members of the profession, their widows or orphans; and to grant annuities to the aged and worn-out among them. The extent to which these objects have been attained may be estimated by the fact that the Fund has now 30 annuitants; and that during the past year £865 was expended in grants to 88 cases of urgent distress, in the majority of which no other resource was open. In addition to the relief afforded to the aged, blind, sick, and helpless, this Fund has aided in the bringing up and placing in situations of orphans, has given timely help to struggling widows and daughters, by which they have tided over temporary difficulties which would otherwise have overwhelmed them; and has, in many instances, enabled medical men, reduced to poverty by misfortune or illness, to resume practice and support their families.

The Committee earnestly appeal to the Profession at large for renewed aid, by which the benefits of the Fund may be extended, and direct attention to the principles on which the Fund is managed. The applicants for relief or annuities have not the trouble and expense of a canvass, or the pain attending publicity. Relief is given as promptly as possible. The only expenses are for printing, postage, and stationery, and the Collector's percentage. The Committee meet at three p.m. on the last Tuesday of every month, to receive applications; and when the evidence as to character and the reality of the distress is satisfactory, a sum proportionate to the urgency of the case and the means at the disposal of the Committee, is voted, and at once sent by the Treasurer.

Subscriptions will be received by the Treasurer, Hon. Secretary, or Collector, or by any of the Members of Committee or Honorary Local Secretaries.

The College was established in 1855, for the following purposes:—

1st. To maintain an Asylum, in which 100 Pensioners, who must be duly qualified medical men, or their Widows, not under fifty years of age (possessing incomes of at least 15*l.*, and not more than 60*l.* a year), shall be provided with three furnished rooms each, and with such additional assistance and accommodation as the funds may permit.

2nd. To provide a School, in which a liberal education will be given to 200 boys, the sons of duly qualified medical men; forty of whom will be educated, boarded, clothed, and maintained entirely at the expense of the Institution, while the remainder will be charged at the lowest rate which is found to be practicable.

3rd. To provide annuities, or occasional pecuniary assistance, to duly qualified medical men in distressed circumstances, or to their families, when they can be granted without detriment to the asylum or school, which are to be ever regarded as the principal objects of the College.

There is a Chapel for Divine Service according to the ritual of the Church of England.

The Pensioners and Foundation Scholars are elected by the Governors, voting by ballot.

Donors of ten guineas are life-governors of the College; subscribers of one guinea annually are governors during the continuance of their subscription. Subscriptions are due in advance on the 1st of January in each year.

Any member of the Profession desirous of accepting the office of Honorary Local Secretary and Treasurer for his neighbourhood, in which one has not been appointed, would oblige by communicating with the Secretary on the subject.

Subscriptions received by the Bankers, Goslings and Sharpe, 19, Fleet-street; the Members of Council; the Hon. Local Secs.; and by the Secretary, at the Office, 37, Soho-square.

SOCIETY FOR THE RELIEF OF WIDOWS AND ORPHANS OF MEDICAL MEN, 53, BERNERS-STREET, OXFORD-STREET, W.—Instituted 1788; incorporated by Royal Charter, 1864. Pres., Mr. M. Ware; Vice-Pres., Messrs. E. A. Brande, Dr. P. M. Latham, Mr. J. Bacot, Mr. D. H. Walne, Dr. A. J. Sutherland, Mr. E. Tegart, Dr. Geo. Burrows, Mr. J. Miles, Mr. C. H. Hawkins, Mr. J. Paget, Dr. B. G. Babington, and Mr. C. Hawkins; Treas., Mr. J. T. Ware, Dr. G. Hamilton Roe (Acting), and Mr. R. S. Eyles; Direct., Mr. J. G. Forbes, Dr. W. Munk, Mr. B. W. Holt, Mr. C. Miles, Dr. W. J. Little, Mr. W. Cathrow, Mr. H. Sterry, Dr. H. Jeaffreson, Mr. H. S. Illingworth, Mr. J. Hilton, Dr. F. Hawkins, Mr. T. B. Curling, Mr. J. Love, Dr. H. A. Pitman, Mr. J. Adams, Dr. Druitt, Mr. J. C. Forster, Mr. E. Tegart, Mr. J. Scott, Mr. H. Lee, Mr. C. Collambell, Dr. R. Quain, Dr. G. Johnson, and Mr. C. F. Du Pasquier; Trust., Messrs. J. T. Ware, Dr. A. J. Sutherland, and Charles Hawkins; Trusts. of Ware and Chamberlaine Funds, Dr. G. Burrows, Dr. J. Clarke, Mr. J. T. Ware, and Blenkarne; Sec., Dr. S. W. J. Merriman, 13, Godolphin-road, New-road, Hammersmith, W.; Coll., Mr. C. J. F. Renton, Laurel Cottage, Hampstead, N.W. Bankers, Fuller, Banbury, and Co., 77, Lombard street.

This Society was formed in the year 1788, by Drs. T. Denman, R. Denison, A. Douglas, J. Sims, and J. Squire, and Messrs. W. Chamberlaine and T. Rendall, with the object of establishing a brotherhood for relieving, half yearly, those Widows and Orphans of its deceased Members who might need assistance.

It unites the advantages of a Provident with those of a Benevolent Society. It is Provident, as by the small yearly subscription of Two Guineas the Members do, through it, protect their own families from destitution, should they unexpectedly need it; and it is Benevolent, as its benefits are conferred only on those who are left in indigent circumstances.

The Society has been greatly assisted by legacies and contributions from Members and others, and has especially to acknowledge the gracious patronage of various members of the Royal Family.

The permanent efficiency of the Society depends on the maintenance of a due proportion between the available income and the claims made on the funds. Computations have been made by experienced actuaries on all the points susceptible of calculation by way of average.

The experience of seventy-six years has fully proved the need that existed for this Society, for the last Report shows that 123 widows, and 188 children of Members of the Society, (comprised in 136 families relieved,) have been placed in comfort by an aggregate sum of above 55,000*l.*, paid in half-yearly sums. Many of these recipients were in a state of absolute poverty, when the Society stepped in to succour them.

In the year 1863, 2166*l.* 10*s.* was distributed among forty-eight widows and twenty-two orphans.

Great care has been taken, in the management of its resources, to secure the means of affording permanently such relief as the Society provides for those whose unfortunate condition renders assistance needful; and the good which it has accomplished has proved the wisdom and benevolence of those who originally planned the Society, and the prudence and efficiency with which its affairs have since been conducted.

The Society's affairs are managed by a President, twelve Vice-Presidents, three Treasurers, and twenty-four Directors, who are elected by the Members in April, and whose services are gratuitous.

All legally qualified Members of the Profession, residing within the County of Middlesex, or WITHIN THE LONDON DISTRICT POST, are eligible for proposal; the mode of admission is by ballot.

Proposal Papers, and other communications for the Court of Directors, should be sent to the Secretary before the first Wednesday in the months of January, April, July, and September. Laws, Lists, and Forms of Proposal may be obtained from the Secretary, and will be sent by Post on receipt of a Stamp.

The Secretary attends at the Office, 53, Berners-street, every Wednesday and Friday, from four to five p.m.
